CLOSER LOOK: You had to be worried when he was gone from June 2024 into Oct. 2025 but he's come back seemingly better than ever; looked good winning a stakes at AQU last time out at this trip so obviously 7fs is no bother; note a win over this track last fall, too, so he handles this place; was always well regarded and while it's taken some time maybe he's now ready to deliver on that hefty price tag.

Can pack a punch in the lane; trouble is, his lack of speed routinely leaves him with a lot to do turning for home; at least has a 7th furlong to run through and that might help; freshened since a decent 3rd in the G2 Cigar Mile and some snappy works at TAM say he's doing well and ready off the bench; still, that lack of speed is a big bugaboo.

Comeback run in a stakes at TAM Feb. 7 after a few months off was encouraging as he lagged back and ran on well for 2nd; as noted, that came off the bench so he's eligible to improve and note some speed shown in prior starts so he's not some one-dimension al closer; once upon a time ran Beyers that would make him a big threat here, but those came in 2024; if able to get back to that form after some big gaps in his schedule he can be a threat, but that's no small 'if', is it?

Come into his own since the fall, winning 3 of 4; yes, the last 2 came on TP synthetic but his Nov. 16 win came at this type of trip on CD dirt; main issue is whether it is the water depth as it's first time in a stakes facing foes tougher than any he's see n before, but he is trending the right way and with just 8 races under his belt has further room for growth; remember, too, he cost a pretty penny so there were once expectations and maybe he's ready to deliver on that promise.

The class horse and he's been knocking heads with some real toughies the past few years; that big OP win March 5 shows he's still got oomph as he posted a triple-digit Bayer; speed to be in it from the start and the outside post allows his rider to break, look to his inside to see what's developing and go from there, which might mean his usual tactics of trying to play keep-away as he might again be quickest; only prior local start was a long time ago, but it was a win. -Michael Hammersly

The class horse and he's been knocking heads with some real toughies the past few years; that big OP win March 5 shows he's still got oomph as he posted a triple-digit Bayer; speed to be in it from the start and the outside post allows his rider to break, look to his inside to see what's developing and go from there, which might mean his usual tactics of trying to play keep-away as he might again be quickest; only prior local start was a long time ago, but it was a win. -Michael Hammersly

Subsequent returnees have come close enough to validating latest Beyer and this gelding was very near to his own wheelhouse in notching that career-best Beyer in last; 5yo has been tractable and fairly effective in his past turf sprints but, like most, w will need traffic luck to prevail or come close to it this time; to be parked inside and just behind the speed would be ideal in the early going with good fortune still needed.

Latest was first stakes test and it was on Tapeta at Turfway; 3 of 4 turf sprints were very productive and he's a nose from being 3-for-4 in lawn dashes - maybe the other wasn't so bad when missing by 4.25 lengths in a $200K allowance affair; gelding may be making steady Beyer progress but he's already a 5yo who still has a way to go and who returns to the infield this time; decent work over the strip last week but in deep waters in graded stakes company.

Ran a real corker at KD last summer but hasn't exactly validated it before or since; will have to turn the tables on a pair of these in order to win this but can say that the 5th horse on 2/14 returned to earn an other-worldly 106 Beyer on DIRT next time out;

Has been runner-up in a couple of lesser turf stakes out west and hasn't done bad since leaving the claiming ranks most recently; still think these are likely to be the tougher customers and keep in mind that this one has topped 92 on the Beyer scale just the one time; drop back, try to save ground, and pick-off as many as can be had in the end;

Figures improved since the switch to turf although he has yet to win over the studd; obviously needs to turn tables on Usually Wrong in order to threaten for top honors but that foe could be hindered by the outside draw; this runner has a useful style IF he can dart out there and cross over somewhat near to the inside in a race that should be a real scramble in the opening furlong; each turf Beyer better than the one before it but an even greater improvement is probably needed to win this contest.

Signs aren't so clear as to whether we can validate latest new-top Beyer but that style would seem a snug fit in here and this one is just a young 4yo so improvement is very legitimate at this time of year; difficult to knock his 5-1-0 mark from 7 grass starts though there are other streaking turfers in here too; step into graded stakes company for this so he'll need his A game.

Has just the pair of wins since 2023 while top turf Beyer since summer of 2024 is just 93; a fresh Ward trainee can often do just about anything but this guy is 2-for-8 career-wise when fresh with just a lone such success since the career bow here 4 year s back; maybe a wide trip is in store from out here and there isn't much margin for error even if he serves up his very best.

Won 9 of last 11 but the 2 losses happened on the lawn in only prior stakes competition; don't even know that his best effort could likely win this and he's gonna have to use some energy early to avoid a wide run from this far out in the gate; not sure when you catch a breather with outside runners wanting to get out and get over too; certainly can't mind the .684 career batting average.

Has been going great guns on Turfway synthetic but he's gonna have a tussle here as a runner whose 7 career wins have all found him in front at every point of call; there's other speed wanting to get out and get over too, and while this could be best of them, he's still gonna have to work; runner-up in latest has banked $1.3 Mil. on turf and is 3-2-0/5 on synthetic as well, so certainly no slouch; will know tougher test now.

Finished in front in 10 of 12 starts and the two others happened when coming off of a rest; he's going great guns at present and survived a stern test in most recent; not to say that this move to graded company won't be similarly challenging BUT he's spe edy and versatile and just might be able to land good position after clearing the wide berth; definitely gives the appearance of the NOW horse.

AE has been pretty steady on the lawn but at a level that will likely find him in deep water vs. this lot, especially considering the need for everything to go about perfect from the wide draw; does have a couple of stakes wins to his credit but this is another making first-ever foray into graded competition; kind of difficult to envision in your head a scenario where he gets IN, gets OUT, gets OVER and still has enough finishing punch to matter in the end; needs some racing luck.

Destined for wide berth if goes but have to love the way he sat back and came runnin' over 5 panels of sod in most recent; gonna need to do considerably better than that, figure-wise, to menace the best of these but MAYBE he tucks in behind the furious s cramble from the outside runners and miraculously lands a workable position and gets another torrid tempo to close into; still recognize the need for improvement if he's to threaten for the larger dividends. -George Cottrell

Kept on gamely to win a rugged G2 Rebel at OP March 1 so that shows quality and guts; it was his first time around 2 turns and first time away from GP and he handled it all with aplomb; pedigree says the added ground shouldn't be an issue; tactical speed can have him forward from the start and you have to like that his Beyers continue to trend north as well; Pletcher has won this race more than any other trainer (4).

Showed talent at TP including winning a route stakes last time out Feb. 21; the issue, though, is all his work at TP obviously was on synthetic; so, today he's asked not only to deal with a change of venue but new footing; certainly bred to handle dirt and worked big on this footing here last week, but you never really know how they'll handle it until they handle it; but if he takes to the ground he could have a say as he's got ability.

Certainly headed the right way; not only looked super romping in a route at FG last time out Feb. 19, he beat elders in the process, a pretty big feat that early in the year; used his speed in those last 2 wins but the way he ran first time out hints he's no need-the-lead type; worked very smartly since 3 times at FG and recently here to indicate he hold his edge.

No way to knock a guy who's won 3 of 4 including a big route SW last time out; OK, so maybe there is a way; all 4 starts came vs. state-breds so surely the water is quite a bit deeper here; also, he's no longer in his FG sandbox, that he must deal with new surroundings; did work smartly here twice recently and that speed likely has him in the thick of it from the start; in fact, if the guy to his left doesn't send could be this guy sets the tempo and that's always an intriguing proposition; kin to 2-time G2 SP This Tea.

Raised eyebrows with a 20-length maiden win oct. 10 and while his races before and since haven't been as good that huge win came here; in other words, maybe he's a different horse on this track; and while his 2 starts since didn't dazzle quite as much they were still a G2 SW at CD and G3 2nd at TAM so he was hardly ran poorly in this 2, just wasn't as electric as he was in his outing here; tactical speed can get him a nice trip; Cox won this in 2021 with champion Essential Quality; kin to G2/G3 Dubai w inner Kimbear (also G3 SP in the U.S., G2/G3 SP in Dubai).

Also entered in the G2 Wood at AQU this same day; maiden vs. winners; has shown talent at least including a 3rd to Reagan's Honor at FG Jan. 17 and he wasn't beaten that far by that guy who is one of the favorites here; considering that he's not completely out of his element, though his 2 races since didn't exactly get the pulse racing and still leave him a ways behind the top players.

Maiden vs. winners; turf debut at GP wasn't too hot but he perked up some in dirt route there Feb. 28 to duel and run 3rd; that shows some progress and he showed speed; that said, he faces much tougher, must deal with new surroundings and a distance he has yet to see; bullet work at GP March 27 at least says he's doing well; kin to multiple G1 SW/SP in France and the U.S., though that all came on turf.

Also entered in the G2 Wood at AQU this same day; 1 of just 3 who've gone this far and the only 1 who's won at 9fs; was on the lead when he won but the pace was slow so more likely here he's stalking or midpack early on; didn't fare so well in a subsequent 9f stakes Feb. 6, however, so you wonder about the quality; but Brown doesn't win at a high percentage because he puts his horses in the wrong spots so if he shipped this guy you should probably take notice; brought a big number at auction as he's kin to multiple G1 SW/SP, champion older male, HOY and HOF inductee Gun Runner; Brown has won this 3 times. -Michael Hammersly
